FINANCIAL FAILURES FEWER

San Antonio, Texas, Jan. 17.—Fewer failures in 1907 than in the prosperous year of 1906 is the record made by fourteen counties comprising the Western District of Texas in R. G. Dunn's report. There were 17 failures in this part of Texas in 1907 against 21 in 1906. Furthermore, the assets in the failures of 1907 showed an excess over the liabilities of $176,940, whereas in 1906 the assets were only $6,650 over the liabilities. This fine showing, made in spite of great financial disturbances and on the heels of the hottest and driest summer in 22 years, is a gratifying proof of the prosperity of Southwest Texas. Copious rains during the past two months and rapid recovery of confidence makes the business outlook for 1908 most promising.

TZI-HSU MAY ABIDICATE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—In diplomatic circles here, there is a feeling that some interesting and important news may be forthcoming from China in the near future. A persistent rumor has been current for several months that the Empress Dowager intends to abdicate at the next Chinese New Year, which comes two weeks from today. According to report, she desires to hand over the cares of state to the Emperor. A secret decree has been issued, it is said, calling a meeting of the Grand Council for the change.

If Tzi-Hsu, the Dowager Empress, carries out her alleged intention, it will mean the passing of one of the most interesting characters among the world's figures of today. Tzi-Hsu is now 72 years old. She is the daughter of a Manchu, who, being in financial difficulties in Canton in 1838, sold her, then an infant of three years, to a rich merchant. In 1848 an imperial proclamation was issued, calling for eligible Manchu maidens between 15 and 18 to present themselves at Peking in view of the selection of secondary wives for the Emperor Hien-fung. Tzi-Hsu was among the first ten on the chosen list. She won the admiration and affection of the Emperor and later bore him a son.

Hien-fung died in 1860 and Tzi-Hsu placed her son on the throne under the name of Tung-chi. During his minority, the government was in the hands of a regency, consisting of Tzi-Hsu, the other empress and Prince Kung, the child's uncle. In 1874 Tung-chi, being then 19 years old, began to show signs of independence. Intrigue was rife in the palace and Tung-chi died in January in the following year, his wife following him very soon. He had married her in 1871. The general supposition is that they were poisoned. As there was no heir to the throne, the infant son of Prince Chung was adopted as the son of Emperor Hien-fung and thus entered upon the inheritance of the great dynasty line as emperor by succession under the name of Kwang-su. The regency remained the same. Kwang-su ascended the throne in 1876, and during the early years of his reign, the Empress Dowager was supreme, although the Emperor nominally assumed full control of the government in 1889. He was in favor of reform, and in 1898 issued some decrees in that direction, which resulted, in September of that year, in the restoration of the regency of the Empress Dowager, who relegated the Emperor to the background and has kept him there rigorously ever since.

IOWA SHIPPERS COMPLAIN

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 17.—The Interstate Commerce Commission met here today to take up complaints of Iowa shippers that the railroads doing business in this state are discriminating in favor of Minneapolis and St. Paul, as against this city and other Iowa points. The charges have been brought by Freight Commissioner Wylie of Des Moines, who alleges that the railroads grant rates to Minneapolis and St. Paul merchants so much lower than to Des Moines dealers that the Minnesota wholesalers can undersell Iowa dealers in what should be competitive territory. The Iowa shippers and jobbers believe that they have at hand sufficient evidence to convince the commissioners that a revision of interstate freight rates should be made.

NEGRO INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION

New York, Jan. 17.—Governor Hughes accepted the invitation of the Armstrong Association to speak in Carnegie Hall tonight in the interest of negro education in the South, as represented by the Tuskegee Institute.

Former Mayor Seth Low, who is chairman of the Tuskegee Board of Trustees, presided, and the speakers, besides Governor Hughes, were Henry Watterson of Louisville, who has not spoken from a New York platform in some years; Booker Washington, whose subject in particular was his own work at Tuskegee, and Bishop Abraham Grant of Indiana. The musical features of the program were furnished by a chorus of Hampton Institute students.

PRITCHETT RESIGNS.

Writing of Article in a School Book Disqualifies Him.

Austin, Jan. 17.—Professor H. C. Pritchett, principal of the Sam Houston normal at Huntsville, who was appointed a member of the state text book board, reached here Friday and tendered his resignation to the governor as a member of the board. The governor immediately announced the appointment of J. H. Jenkins, principal of the city schools of Corsicana, to membership on the board.

Professor Pritchett resigned because he was disqualified on account of having about fifteen years ago written a short article on Spanish land measures, printed in White's arithmetic, now published by the American Book company, and under the law this disqualified him to sit on the board. These facts are contained in the resignation.

State Health Officer Brumby returned from El Paso, where with Chairman Wilson of the livestock sanitary commission, he made an inspection of dairy herds there. Dr. Brumby announced he found dairy cattle to be in first class condition and dairymen anxious for the inspection. Inspection is to be made, but on a limited scale, as there is no appropriation for carrying on this work.

Favorably Reported.

Washington, Jan. 17.—For judiciary committee Representative Henry favorably reported the bill of Congressman Stephens creating a division of the Federal court at Amarillo, Tex. The bill has already passed the senate.

Severely Slashed.

San Antonio, Jan. 17.—In a quarrel with her husband Leandra Martinez was slashed with a razor about the face, arms and breast. She is not expected to recover.

U. S. GOLF ASSOCIATION

New York, Jan. 17.—Golfers are arriving from all directions to attend the annual meeting of the United States Golf Association to be held tonight at Delmonico's.

The ticket of officers for the ensuing year as presented by the nominating committee is expected to go through without opposition, according to the usual custom, and Daniel Chauncey, of the Garden City Golf Club, is nominated to serve another term as president.

One of the chief matters of interest to come before the delegates is a proposed revision of the rules. It is also likely that the course for the 1908 championship tournaments will be selected.

NATIONAL BOARD OF TRADE

Washington, Jan. 17.—The annual meeting of the National Board of Trade in this city, next week, promises to attract more than ordinary attention. The organization is made up of representatives of boards of trade, chambers of commerce, and other bodies of a commercial or industrial character throughout the country. Its yearly meetings are held in this city for the purpose of discussing important public questions affecting trade interests and with a view of effecting legislative matters before congress.

The organization has prepared a long list of live topics for consideration at the forthcoming meeting. Resolutions relating to the currency question will be introduced by delegates representing the trade bodies in several large cities. The parcels post is another subject that will probably receive much attention.

Other topics that will be taken up for consideration will be consular reform, the merchant marine, tariff revision, river and harbor improvements, the Inter-oceanic canal, railroad rates, business and industrial combinations, and improvements in the postal service.

Anyhow, it is safe to assume that all bankers will prefer the Oklahoma plan of State insurance of deposits to the Chinese practice of cutting off the heads of the officials of a "busted" bank. Both plans are said to work well as a means of preventing bank failures.

Suppose you could at will exchange eyes with another person and, after having done so, look at some familiar face, the picture presented would be quite different from that you see with your own eyes. This is the reason why some people can see resemblances or differences where others can see none. No person or other object presents exactly the same appearance to any two people. Has anyone the right to say that his vision alone is perfect and that of all others defective? Of course not. The same is true of the intellectual and spiritual vision, and explains why people must necessarily differ about religion, politics and many other things. What appears true, beautiful and good to one, seems imperfect and undesirable to another. He who makes his own opinions a standard by which to judge others, is a dogmatist. The best we can do is to follow what seems to us to be the way of truth, and leave others to do likewise.

Cucumber Cream For Chapping.

Cucumber Cream cures chapped skin—that is the only thing it will do, but it does it well. When your skin roughs up, peels, scales, gets dry and harsh, CUCUMBER CREAM will soften it; makes it clear and smooth, and keeps it moist and fresh, so that the roughness will not recur. No grease or stickiness.

LADY LEAPS TO DEATH.

Mrs. Herbert M. Sears of Boston Jumps From

THIRTEENTH STORY HOTEL

Window, Landing on the Roof of the Adjoining Structure of Four Stories Those Inside Hearing the Terrific Taud as Her Body Struck.

New York, Jan. 17.—Mrs. Herbert M. Sears, a member of a wealthy Boston family, committed suicide at the Hotel St. Regis, of which she was a guest, by jumping from a thirteen story window today.

Mrs. Sears had for several years been a frequent guest at the Hotel St. Regis. She always came to the hotel accompanied by a maid only, frequently remaining several days. Her actions were described by the hotel people as erratic, and her maid always maintained a close watch over her mistress.

The body of Mrs. Sears fell on the roof of a four-story building adjoining the Hotel Regis. The fall was heard by residents of that building. Mrs. Sears left a note to her husband in her room in the hotel.

A telegram from Boston stated that Mrs. Sears was the wife of a prominent broker of that city. A brother, Richard D. Sears, was formerly national tennis champion, and Herbert Sears' twin brother, Philip S. Sears, is also prominent in Boston financial circles.

Boston friends of Mrs. Sears say she had been suffering for some time with melancholia.

Mrs. Sears was Miss Carolina Bartlett, daughter of Francis Bartlett, a leading Boston attorney, and was about forty-two years old. The family occupies a beautiful residence. There are two children.

GORE'S SPEECH.

"Less Taxes, More Money, No Monopoly," the Issues He Favors.

New York, Jan. 17.—In an address at Cooper Union Senator Gore of Oklahoma said he came with greetings from the youngest, but one of the most important states of the Union. It would be first in the Bryan column.

"If I could write the issues of this campaign I would say, 'Less taxes, more money, no monopoly,'" he said.

"The Republicans would write it, 'More taxes, less money, all monopoly.' The Chinese wall erected by the tariff must be torn down. We believe that American-made goods should be bought at home as cheap as they can be had in Europe. Out in our country we think these hoary-headed infant industries should stand alone. Democracy would place trust-made goods on the free list."

Speaking of the recent panic, Senator Gore said: "I believe the panic was the result of cannibalism. The big financiers wanted a railway or a steamship line the little ones had, and they got it. I think this made-to-order panic will teach our people a little wisdom. They will learn that a protective tariff is not a protection against panics and a fountain of enduring wealth."

DIG GRAVES ALL NIGHT.

Italian Laborers Performed Sad Tasks by the Light of the Moon.

Boyetown, Pa., Jan. 17.—The uncommon sight of a gang of Italian laborers digging graves by the light of the moon for the burial of the dead of the Rhoades Opera House disaster was witnessed in Union and Fairview cemeteries here. So many funerals were arranged to be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday that the borough authorities found it necessary to keep men at work all night. A large number of funerals were held Friday. The governor places the number of dead at 173. The unidentified dead will be buried in a trench, sixty feet long and forty feet wide.

Assignment Made.

New York, Jan. 17.—The firm of Whitney & Kilchene, bankers and brokers, members of the New York stock exchange, made an assignment for the benefit of creditors to Bayard L. Peck. The firm is composed of Girard H. Whitney and James V. Garaghty. Counsel for the assignee said that the firm was but temporarily embarrassed because of inability to make collections and assigned in order to obtain a few days to work itself from the difficulty.

President Approves Recommendation.

Washington, Jan. 17.—President Roosevelt has approved the recommendation of the isthmian canal commission endorsed by Secretary Taft concerning changing the width of the locks of the canal from 100 feet to 110 feet.

Big Blaze at Memphis.

Memphis, Jan. 17.—The four-story building situated at the intersection of South Main street and Linden avenue, occupied by D. Dooley as a saloon, and the furniture store of H. C. Laswell was destroyed by fire. The loss will reach $60,000, partially covered by insurance.

Oklahoma City, March 11.

Guthrie, Jan. 17.—The Republican state convention to elect delegates to the national convention was called for March 11 at Oklahoma City.

Druggist's Awful Mistake.

Augusta, Ga., Jan. 17.—A druggist sent the wrong medicine to be given the little son of Henry Kelly. The infant died. A warrant was issued for the druggist.

TWO GIRLS DEAD.

One Perishes In Flames, Other Breaks Her Neck.

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 17.—The Imperial Underwear factory, employing 100 girls, was destroyed by fire. There was a panic when the alarm of fire sounded. Florence Waltrouse was caught in the burning building and met a horrible death in the flames. Mary Buckley, with a number of other girls, jumped from a fire escape and broke her neck. The injured include Kate Conzey, May Wheelan and Katherine Griffith. All were burned on fire escape before jumping and they are suffering from broken limbs and internal injuries.

The fire is supposed to have been started by the upsetting of a glue pot in the warehouse of the Economy furniture company, located in the basement of the building, which was four stories. The flames spread rapidly and most of the girls on the third floors fled to the fire escapes. These got as far as the second story, and from there they jumped to areaway. Many of the girls fled down one of the narrow stairways in terror. Some fainted and there was a jam on the stairs which threatened serious consequences. Fortunately, the firemen were able to get them all out safely before the fire reached that portion of the building.

MISS FLETCHER ON STAND.

Thaw When a Child Nervous, Moody and Also Stared Wildly.

New York, Jan. 17.—Miss Alice C. Fletcher of Washington, who said she had been a frequent visitor at the Thaw household at Pittsburg, and knew Harry Thaw for twenty-six years, was the first witness Friday. She declared Thaw was an unusual child—nervous and moody, with wild and staring eyes. He seldom talked coherently, and was unable to carry on a sustained conversation.

"Throughout the period you knew Thaw, did his acts and appearance impress you as rational or irrational?" asked Mr. Littleton.

"Irrational," declared the witness. Miss Fletcher told of seeing Thaw at his mother's home in 1903. Thaw said he had an awful experience, he believed he had a terrible disease of the eyes and thought he was going to die. In fact, he wanted to die. He mentioned Evelyn Nesbit's name frequently, but his talk was usually too incoherent to follow. His eyes looked without seeing apparently.

On cross-examination Miss Fletcher said that although she had been a frequent visitor at the Thaw residence she had never known Harry to be placed in restraint in any way.

Mrs. William Thaw, mother of defendant, who reached New York Thursday night from Pittsburg, was in the courtroom early Friday, ready to take the stand when called. She plainly showed evidences of her recent illness.

Demise of Archduke.

Salzburg, Austria, Jan. 17.—Archduke Ferdinand IV., grand duke of Tuscany, died here. He was the father of Countess of Montignoso, formerly Princess Louise and divorced wife of the present king of Saxony, and who last year was married to Signor Loselli, a musician.

BAPTIST LAYMEN'S CLUB.

Organization Effected, With Selection of Executive Committee—Motto: "Sociability and Service."

The laymen of the Baptists have effected organization under the name of "The Baptist Laymen's Club." The motto selected, "Sociability and Service," was one of the expressions used by one of the speakers at the social meeting Thursday night, and aptly expresses the purpose of the organization. Social meetings will be held from time to time and the club will take an active part in the work of the church along its several lines.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

At the Courthouse tomorrow, the pastor of the Christian church will preach at 11 a. m., on "The Dignity and Importance of the Church Officer." At night he will preach on a subject selected by one of the young men of the congregation. He requests that subjects be handed him each week, for discussion on Sunday evening. Bible school at 9:45 a. m.; evening worship at 7:45. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend. Ladies' Aid Society at 3 p. m., Monday, at the residence of Mrs. B. F. Leman.

SIX SUSPENDED.

Whitaker Issues Lengthy Statement Defending His Action.

New Orleans, Jan. 17.—Inspector of Police Edward Whitaker, who was suspended with five of his detectives for shooting at Editor Joseph M. Leveque of the Morning World, has issued a lengthy statement defending his action. Whitaker says he believes himself justified in resenting the abuse Leveque heaped upon him in the editorial columns of his paper. He said he did not enter the newspaper office with the intention of shooting Leveque, but after he got there, he thought the editor made a move as if to draw a weapon, and he then drew his revolver and fired.

Edward W. Roberts, a copy-reader, is the young man who probably saved the editor's life. The inspector of police is a large man, being considerably over six feet, and weighing over 200 pounds, but Roberts, who is a little fellow, succeeded in getting to him and preventing his aim from being true. He finally got the inspector to his knees, but was then caught by several detectives and himself hurled to the floor.

Detectives Glynn, Dale, Holland and Methe are the officers suspended with Whitaker. Action will be taken against Inspector Whitaker and detectives in the criminal court, and the suspended officers will also have to answer charges before the board of police commissioners.

RANDALL LAID TO REST.

"Maryland, My Maryland," Rendered at the Cemetery.

Augusta, Ga., Jan. 17.—The funeral of James R. Randall, author of "Maryland, My Maryland," and numerous other poems and songs, took place here and was one of the largest and most impressive ever held in this city. The services were held in Sacred Heart Catholic church, which was thronged. At the grave "Maryland, My Maryland," was sung by a special choir.
